LABOR'S NIGHT.

Yesterday's Successful Demonstration

EXCELLENT SPEECHES BY JOHN M'BRIDE THE REV. E. E. DRESBACH AND JOHN COFFEY.

Good Music, an Immense Crowd, and Enthusiasm Unlimited—The Proceedings in Full.

So anxious were the members of the trades' unions and the delegates to the glass workers' convention to hear what the speakers had to say, that the parade last night was not a very large one. The procession formed on Erie street, and headed by the Harmonia band marched through several streets and halted in front of the Hotel Conrad, where a platform had been raised. The band moved to the stand in the park, and between the speeches played with taste and precision.

Joseph Grapewine acted as chairman of the meeting. In opening he portrayed the increase of labor unions and the benefit and advancement of the laboring classes. He first introduced the Hon. John McBride, president of the Ohio Miners' Association, who said:

FELLOW CITIZENS: I desire to thank you for the sympathy manifested toward our cause; for the hearty welcome you have extended to the representatives of the glass workers'. He spoke of the many blessings derived from organized labor by the working classes; how in himself he was but one, but with the aid of the trades' union he became a tower of strength, a tower that does and ought to possess strength, for says he, the laboring people represent the intelligence of our country, and the trades' unions are the school houses of American labor, that organized labor had not been understood in the past, but that people were beginning to see that the liberty of American labor was the corner stone of the American government. He showed that organized labor is better paid, and deserves to be, proved the harm done by competition in labor, which means the death of living wages.

Mr. McBride spoke very well and was frequently interrupted with applause. The Rev. E. E. Dresbach next took the stand.

"I am glad," said he, "that I can come from the pulpit and speak to you, the laboring people of this country, to-night. He said that labor was the life and substance of this country. 'Take that away,' continued he, 'and you have nothing, absolutely nothing left.' He declared that success in life was what we all endeavor to obtain. That success means plenty to eat, plenty to wear, plenty for our wives, our children, and ourselves; that this success can only be obtained by organized labor. Mr. Dresbach believed that there should be no such thing as want in this country of 60,000,000 people, where it is estimated that enough is raised to support 300,000,000 persons; that every laborer should study the condition of this country, and political economy, so as to know what is best for himself and his fellow-workmen. He says that the working man should be well educated, be a just and moral man, and that the time would come when there would be no difference socially between labor and capital. Mr. Dresbach spoke very fluently, and was often applauded.

John Coffey, master workman of District 149 of the K. of L., was introduced. He speaks in a statesman-like manner, and said:

FELLOW WORKINGMEN AND CITIZENS:—Although preferring to act in the capacity of auditor instead of teacher, I will endeavor to say something which I deem appropriate to the occasion. The thoughtful individual in surveying such an assemblage as this, would naturally inquire, who are those men what is the meaning or purpose of their gathering? My answer would be, they are the representatives of labor, upon which society rests, they are the hard handed sons of toil upon whose efforts the security and perpetuity of our government depends, they have been consigned to labor physically and mentally, not alone that they may be benefited, but that the nation may be benefited. A few years ago it was considered by certain classes a disgrace to be obliged to toil for a living, and a much greater crime to be identified with a labor organization; in fact, many of the States prevented by statutory laws, the formation of labor organizations. This was done upon the delusive plea that such organizations were a menace to the peace and security of society, but what a pleasure it is to contemplate the almost marvelous change which has taken place since that time. Labor realizing that nothing effectual could be secured by individual effort, and being rendered subservient to every wish and command of Capital, which was dominated by an insatiable desire to acquire wealth at any cost to labor, determined to organize, and through their collective efforts successfully resist further attempt to enslave upon their rights, and obtain a reasonable share of these blessings and efforts which their Creator intended they should enjoy. What success if any has attended their efforts in this laudable undertaking, it is impossible to enumerate. Among the improvements that they have attained, they have through the force of intelligence and association broken down the social barriers which formerly prevented their figuring a material factor in the public affairs of this great nation, and they stand today honored and respected by all who have an interest in the welfare of the human race. They have obtained through intelligent appeal, the enactment of more favorable legislation, both municipal, state and national than ever before. Previously the workingmen permitted others to do their thinking, and they were credulous enough to accept as true the decisive utterances of political and economic theorists, who were solely animated by a desire to use the workmen as mere instruments to promote their own personal welfare, but to-day workmen think for themselves. They know now that the mind was created to be used, and to be exercised, to investigate all questions, to analyze all subjects in order to develop the actual truth, and enforce the same upon society. They have succeeded in leveling all distinction which heretofore divided mankind, and they recognize that they are, in the words of the poet

"As much a part of this great plan That with creation's dawn began, As any of the throng."

Mr. Coffey is one the most popular of all the leaders of labor, and he provoked great enthusiasm. The meeting closed with a musical selection.

THE CONVENTION IS OVER,

The Glass Workers say Thank You and Good Bye.

The corridor of the Hotel Conrad seems quiet and almost lonesome now, having been thronged for a week with the delegates to the glass workers' convention, nearly all of whom have gone home. The result of District 149's election has been reported. District 149 has the following list of officers for the year: Master workman and recording secretary, Lewis Arrington, of Massillon; worthy foreman, Joseph Grapewine, of Massillon; treasurer, Conrad Auth, of Painesville; executive board, Wm. Lawless of Alton, G. A. Kambach of Pittsburg, Fred Harty of Streator, and George Elmore of St. Louis. Mr. Grapewine, it will be noticed, has received a promotion, on account of his diligence in furthering the work of the district. The selection of a place for the next convention has been left to the officers of the districts. Before adjourning the following appreciative card was authorized:

Whereas, For the many favors tendered us by Mayor Frantz, President Blumenschein, of the city council, W. B. Humbarger, Chief Marshal Boerner, the Rev. E. E. Dresbach, Mr. Bayless, W. H. Vincent, proprietor Hotel Conrad, to the Trades and Labor Assembly, and to L. A. G. 6093 K. of L., and our "brother Joe," and the citizens in general, therefore be it

Resolved, That the joint District Assemblies 143 and 149 K. of L., Glass Bottle Workers, respectfully beg to tender you our sincere and heartfelt thanks for the many kindnesses and hospitable courtesies rendered us during our sojourn in your most beautiful city, which will, in the future, cause many pleasant memories to flow to our minds when we shall have returned to our homes and reflect upon the past.

JAMES GRANT, Wm. CAMPBELL, L. EDWARDS, Committee D. A. 143. Wm. LONGFORD, THOS. SMITH, Jos. H. POPE, Committee D. A. 149.

The text of the letter authorized by District 143 and 149 K. of L., to be sent to Congressmen McKinley, W. L. Wilson, of W. Va., W. D. Bynum, of Indiana, and Isidor Raynor, of Maryland, is below. A copy will also be sent to James Campbell, president of the Window Glass Workers' Association, who resides in Washington, in the interest of his organization:

MASSILLON, O., July 14, 1888. The Green Glass Bottle Blowers of District Assemblies 143 and 149 K. of L., in joint convention assembled, decided to place an emphatic stamp of disapproval upon any attempt on the part of congress to reduce the protective rates of duty on manufactured glass, and in view of the manly, courageous and persistent manner in which you have endeavored to secure a continuance of existing rates we have resolved to extend to you our sincere thanks, and hope that your future efforts in behalf of the industrial interests of the country may always be attended with success.

[Signed on behalf of the above]

L. ARRINGTON, D. M. W. J. S. GRANT, Rec. Sec'y. District Assembly 143. JOHN COFFEY, D. M. W. Wm. LONGFORD, Rec. Sec'y. District Assembly 149.

"Mr. Tangle's Vacation," by Edward Everett Hale. The following is clipped from the Literary News: "Mr. Tangle is a lawyer, who in true American fashion overworks until one day he can think no more. His physician orders a vacation. In a lovely New England village he finds a tempting spot. The author of 'Ten Times One' makes even an invalid find a hand in making the world a brighter place to live in. Mr. Tangle becomes interested in the school, the church, the clubs for reading and working among the poor. In many bright conversations the lessons of unselfishness and responsibility are taught. A pretty thread of romance sets off the story. Paper 50c."

THE LAW OF EXPEDIENCY.

President Cleveland in his clever speech made a few days ago at the alumni dinner at the University of Virginia, spoke in terms at once humorous and patriotic about the worthy ambition of every American boy to become President of the United States, because the constitution had at least not made it impossible to him. Probably there is not an American, who is now or ever has been a boy, that has not heard that little sentiment proposed as a spur to his efforts. Theoretically it is true, but practically it is no longer. The fact of the matter is, the President must as a general proposition come from one of the doubtful States. As for Louisiana, its boys can never hope to be named on a presidential ticket until it shall become a doubtful State. The constitution does not ordain this, but the unwritten law of expediency, stronger than the constitution, does. — New Orleans Picayune.

When the constitution, which is now absolutely set aside by the unwritten law of expediency in Louisiana, is obeyed, that State will speedily become a doubtful State, and its boys may hope to be president. So long as the Louisianians demand congressional representation, for citizens whose votes they refuse to count, its boys who breathe the pestilential atmosphere of fraud and outrage are not worthy to fill the highest office in the land, and happily the law of expediency restrains them from demanding it. Let the ambitious youth of the Gulf State rise up and insist that the glorious hope which is the birthright of every northern boy be not taken away from them, for the benefit of a few government bounty seekers and to the disgrace of their commonwealth.

The Shipping and Commercial List has an interesting explanation of the cause for the recent sharp advance in the price of refined sugar. This is not due to the arbitrary action of the Sugar Trust, but is higher to day than it was six months ago in consequence of the natural operation of the law of supply and demand. Several important crops fell short last year, and with the increase in consumption, the loss is seriously felt. But what the Trust is responsible for is the fact that the relative difference between the value of raw and refined sugar is very much greater to-day than it was before the Trust came into existence last November. The first manifestation of power on the part of the Trust, as soon as the combination was completed was a gradual and arbitrary marking up in the price of refined without any corresponding advance in raw, until the relative difference between the two had been sufficiently increased to insure a handsome profit to the refiners, and that relative difference has been rigidly maintained ever since. A year ago it was estimated that the cost of refining sugar was about five eighths of a cent per pound, but since then the Trust has created forty million dollars worth of watered stock, upon which it has guaranteed and is now paying a dividend, and the dividends of this watered stock are taken out of the pockets of every sugar consumer. The statement of half truths is as misleading as it is dishonest, and hence, while it is quite true that the recent advance in sugar has not been due to the Trust, it is equally true that the present relative high price of refined sugar is solely the work of this combination.

It is rumored that Congressman Crouse, of the Akron district, did not decline a re-election entirely on account of ill health, but rather because he was not in accord with the Republican high tariff, free whisky and dear clothes platform. — Canton News-Democrat.

The "conservatism" of the new management of the above paper in assessing men and affairs applies only to the men and affairs of Canton, whose influence is valuable. When General Harrison, Mr. Crouse and others who are beyond the New Democrat's hail, which are under discussion, the right to libel, circulate rumors and misrepresent are included in its articles of faith.

The Mills bill ought to be passed because it does not secure the necessary reduction of the surplus. It is a condition which confronts us. — N. Y. Sun.

FROM 1836 TO 1886.

FIFTY-TWO YEARS AGO—A REMINISCENCE.

Mr. Folger, of this City, Gives His Recollections of the "Long Gone Past."

A member of THE INDEPENDENT staff on bearing Mr. Folger giving an account of the politics of Stark county as that subject occupied the public mind in 1836 and the following years, up to and including 1840, solicited from him a statement, as he remembered, of the stirring events of those days. While Mr. Folger does not claim that his statement, prepared as it is mostly from memory, is entirely correct, he submits the following:

After the "scab race" for the presidency in 1836, in which, copying from "Benton's Thirty Years View," Mr. Van Buren was the candidate of the Democratic party, General Harrison the candidate of the opposition, and Mr. Hugh L. White that of a fragment of the Democrats, Mr. Van Buren was elected, receiving one hundred and seventy electoral votes; seventy-three were given to Harrison, and twenty-six to Mr. White. The States voting for each were: for Mr. Van Buren, Maine, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania, North Carolina, Virginia, Mississippi, Louisiana, Illinois, Alabama, Missouri, Arkansas, For General Harrison, Vermont, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana, For Mr. White, Georgia and Tennessee. Massachusetts complimented Mr. Webster by bestowing her votes upon him, and South Carolina, as in the two preceding elections, threw her vote away upon a citizen not a candidate and not a child of her soil—Mr. Manum, of North Carolina—disappointing Mr. White's friends, whose standing for the presidency had been instigated by Mr. Calhoun to divide the Democratic party and defeat Mr. Van Buren. The Whig party had become entirely disintegrated and demoralized, but clung to Mr. Clay as the Moses of their Israel, whose fate will be noticed hereafter, the politics of Stark county being a subject of especial interest at this time.

In 1837 Stark county entered into the contest between the Whigs and Democrats with unwonted vigor. Hon. David A. Starkweather having been elected to the Senate in 1836, gave the Democrats the member of that body from Stark county, and there was no election for senator in 1837, one-half the senate holding over, under the constitution of 1802. The contest for members of the house was one of exceeding bitterness. The name of one of the Whig candidates is not remembered by the writer, the other of whom was General John Augustine, a citizen of great and deserved popularity who had served in both houses of the general assembly of the State. The Democratic candidates were the late Hon. Matthew Johnson and Judge Jacob Hostetter, both of whom were elected. Mr. Johnson by seven votes over General Augustine, and Judge Hostetter by a somewhat larger majority over the other Whig candidate.

At that election, Colonel Thomas S. Webb, of this city, was the Whig candidate for sheriff, and was beaten by Daniel Raffensperger, by about one hundred and fifty votes. As is now recollected the whole Democratic ticket was elected by very reduced majorities, the smallness of which led the Whigs in 1838 to believe they could succeed in electing their candidates. As it was the year for electing a governor, the Whigs brought out the Hon. Joseph Vance, of Champlain county, who had served long and acceptably in congress, and the Democrats brought out a new, and up to that time an unknown citizen in the political history of Ohio, the late Hon. Wilson Shannon, of Belmont. The contest all over the State was exceedingly spirited. The slogan of the Democrats was "Wilson Shannon and bank reform." It was borne upon their banners, and as Ohio had at that time about as worthless a bank currency as it has ever had, not excepting which followed the war of 1812, not a bank in the State redeeming its paper with coin or its equivalent. The words "bank reform" had a potency and power never equalled by any political party in Ohio, except "Tippecanoe and Tyler too," which will be mentioned hereafter. Such a hold did the idea of bank reform have upon the public mind that the Whigs with candidates of deserved popularity, men whose lives and characters were above reproach, were beaten from eight hundred to a thousand votes for nearly every office in the county. Judge Hostetter was sent to the senate and Hon. Mallox Johnson, of this city, and James Welch, being elected to the house of representatives. While your correspondent did not yet enter either of these gentlemen, he desires to place on the historic page, the fact that that legislature abolished imprisonment for debt in the State of Ohio, previous to which poverty was a crime and worthy of incarcerating its victim in the county jail. All honor to the Democratic legislature elected in 1838. In 1840 the Whigs, discouraged by the defeat the year previous, did not organize in Stark county, and Dr. James Welch, of Sandy township, and John Smith, of Lawrence, were elected to the house, Judge Hostetter holding over in the senate.

The apathy almost amounting to a paralysis of the Whigs of Stark county at their defeat in 1840, hung over them till a fall. The nomination of General William Henry Harrison at Harrisburg, in December 1840, did little to arouse the torpor that seemed to have taken possession of the party all over the State. Stark county was not alone in the inertia that seemed to have descended a mortgage upon its energies, and put it into the hands of a receiver. The state of things continued until the State convention of February 1840, when Corwin was nominated for governor, and an electoral ticket was also presented to the people of Ohio, an enthusiasm suddenly exhibited itself that surprised the Whigs, and astounded the Democrats all over the State.

Immediately after the call for the State convention, it was, however, plainly perceptible that the Whigs had determined upon the most active and aggressive action. Those who were within a reasonable distance of Columbus got up strange banners and devices. A new impulse and a new spirit seemed to actuate almost everybody, which was accelerated wonderfully by a series of articles that had appeared four years before in the Boston Courier, edited by that brilliant scholar, Wm. Buckingham, a devoted friend of Webster, who never failed to speak slightly of General Harrison by calling him "Old Tip." After the nomination at Harrisburg, the Baltimore Republican, a most violent Democratic paper long since passed away, said, "Give the Whigs a mince-a log cabin and a barrel of hard frosts, and he would be content without an election to the presidency." The Springfield Whigs of that bright growing city, under the lead of Charles Anthony, got up a log cabin on wheels and festooned it with eon skins and unfurled the party having it in charge with the old fashioned fringed hunting shirt, and through mad and mure reached Columbus and were present at the convention. They drove into Columbus singing

"Where, tell me, where was your log cabin made," "Was built among the merry boys that wield the plow and spade," and which they sang to the tune of "Blue Bells of Scotland," some inside the cabin, some on the roof, but over a floated the stars and stripes. From Stark county the delegates as now remembered at should, however, be stated that the convention was a mass convention of the Whigs of Ohio, not a delegate convention were the late Mr. Charles K. Skinner, who went on horseback, Col. T. S. Webb, Isaac B. Dangler and Selvanus Buckins, all of whom except Mr. Skinner are yet living and enthusiastic supporters of the Chicago nominees of 1888.

General Reazin Ball, a fellow soldier of General William Henry Harrison in the war of 1812, was made president of the convention. General Ball was well known to the winter in 1828 and 1832 as an unyielding Democratic supporter of General Jackson "without a why or wherefore." The action of that convention infused new life into the Whigs of Ohio. The speech of Corwin in the House of Representatives at Washington in reply to General Cary, of Michigan, secured for him the nomination for governor. The resolutions of the convention were accepted as the political key note of the campaign which opened in northeastern Ohio in April following at Ravenna in a mass convention of Western Reserve Whigs. Geauga, Ashland, Cuyahoga and Stark were largely represented. General Seabury Ford, of Geauga, elected by his county to the House of Representatives of the State that year, and by the House made its presiding officer with many others from that county were present. From Stark a brass band, of which Citizen Isaac B. Dangler was a member, drove by four horse team from Canton to that city. The late Dr. Abel Underhill, and the writer were detailed by the central county committee to assist in the labors of the convention by invitation from the Portage county committee, both of whom attended, and of the party they took at that great feathering the Cleveland Daily Herald, then edited by the late Hon. J. A. Harris, gave a full account. The meeting of the citizens of Ravenna at the court house in the evening was a very grand affair. The great crowd was very hospitably entertained by the citizens of Ravenna, foremost among whom was Hon. Daniel R. Tilden, who now resides in Cleveland after thirty years of faithful service as probate judge of Cuyahoga county. Such was the opening of the campaign of 1840 within the experience of the writer. Your correspondent continued in the canvass, and trust he will be excused for saying "a part of which he was," but for the present this must suffice.

A DISTINGUISHED MASSILLONIAN

Commander Folger, as an Ordnance Expert, to have Charge of the Washington Foundry.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—It is now definitely settled that Commander William M. Folger is to succeed Commander McCormack in charge of the Washington Ordnance Foundry. The necessary orders have been issued detaching him from the command of the Quinlan, and his presence here is expected in the autumn.

In order that he may add to his already large fund of information on gun construction, Secretary Whitney has directed that he make a tour of all the large ordnance works in Europe before coming to Washington. He will visit Krupp's, Cruesot's, Whitworth's and many other foreign works and is expected to pick up such information as can be obtained legitimately and which may be considered useful to him in his new position.

By the time he arrives here Secretary Whitney hopes to be able to select the ordnance expert for whom he has advertised so extensively, and with these two new heads at the yard he expects to see the navy equipped with some efficient guns, and at a more rapid rate than during the past few years. The general impression is that he has selected the right man to carry out these wishes.

Commander Folger is an indefatigable worker and stands second to none as an ordnance expert. He had much to do with designing the steel guns lately turned out by the navy, all of which, as far as tried, have given most excellent results. For several years he was in charge of the proving grounds at Annapolis, where he conducted many useful experiments. He also had a long tour of duty in the Ordnance Bureau.

FOR CONSPIRACY.

A FORMER MASSILLONIAN INDICTED.

And Held Under Bond for Injuring the Business of a Minnesota Newspaper.

The St. Paul Pioneer Press of July 11 states:

Frank Hoover, president of the Minneapolis Typographical Union, and William B. Hammond, secretary of the executive committee of that organization, were surprised yesterday afternoon when a deputy sheriff notified them to appear in the district court and answer an indictment charging them with conspiracy in connection with the boycott against the Saturday Evening Spectator. This was the first intimation that these gentlemen had that an indictment had been found. They knew that the party they took in the boycott was the subject of investigation by the grand jury, but did not believe an indictment had been found. The indictment seems to have been based on a card printed in the papers and signed by President Hoover, in which it was declared that "if you patronize the Spectator you boycott or gangster labor."

The same paper, in its next issue, has the following: Yesterday the grand jury's indictment against Frank Hoover and William B. Hammond, the leaders in the boycotting of C. H. Dubois, of the Saturday Evening Spectator, materialized. The indictment charges them with conspiring to compel Editor Dubois to discharge his workmen and employ others of their naming, to injure the workmen and deprive them of their employment, and to prevent Mr. Du Bois from exercising his calling. It also charges them with visiting business men of the city and by threats and promises inducing the to withdraw their patronage from the Spectator, by which Mr. Du Bois' business has been seriously injured. Freeman P. Lane appeared as attorney for the defendants, who were held in a joint bond of seven hundred dollars. The case was continued over to the next term of court, and if pushed to trial may prove interesting as a test case.

Industrial Notes.

Duluth, Minn., is to have the largest flour mill in the world, with a daily capacity of six thousand barrels.

The working time of the seven hundred men employed in the shops of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad at Newark, O., has been reduced from ten to eight hours.

The coal dealers of Rochester, N. Y., have raised the price of all kinds of coal sixty cents per ton.

The coal dealers in Toledo are complaining of a scarcity of vessels. Fifteen thousand tons are piled upon the docks awaiting shipment.

The following notice has been posted by the Blandon mill, Reading, Pa.: "The cost of manufacturing exceeds the selling price of our product. We have therefore decided to close down the mill immediately for an indefinite period." This throws nearly one hundred and fifty men out of employment.

The Journal of United Labor publishes a letter this week from Grand Master Workman Powderly, in which he calls attention to the coffee corner, and advises that no coffee be bought until this corner is broken. He says:

"Boycott coffee. Do not buy one ounce of it until this reign of plunder is at an end. Go to your grocer and tell him not to invest in a pound of it, and ask him to watch for the turn of the tide in New York. To do as I suggest will work no injustice to the men from whom you buy your groceries. Do not buy coffee, but when you do invest in coffee again, have the article you invest in analyzed to see if it has not been tampered with and adulterated, and then trace the adulteration until you find it, and you may be sure you will find it, and you may be sure you will trace it to the action taken in the Coffee Exchange of New York. Mechanics, laborers, miners farmers and Knights of Labor generally, practice a little self-denial for a time and break the corner in coffee by refusing to buy it. Let us test the law and see if we will be arrested for boycotting an article made too dear by rogues who boycott the best interests of the people."

Mayor's Court.

Curious, Isn't It?

WASHINGTON, July 16.—The $30,000 voted by the house of representatives last week for firing morning and evening salutes to the flag, brought out a curious fact. The powder left over from the war lasted exactly twenty-three years. The last barrel was used on April 1. Since then no salutes have been fired at any military posts except West Point, Fort Monroe and Fort Riley. No appropriation had ever been asked for the purpose before, and none of the senators and members knew where the powder for these salutes came from. However, when the matter was explained, the house very willingly agreed to give the $30,000.

One camp for feeding fifty thousand men is being prepared at Columbus for the approaching G. A. R. encampment. The contract for one meal for such a multitude requires 3,125 pounds of butter, 2,063 pounds of sugar and 267 gallons of milk. It will take five hundred feet of steam ranges to cook the meal, and two thousand waiters and cooks to serve it.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Two Ways. Choose Which!

There are two usual ways of doing what Nature sometimes does me unhelpful, namely, to relieve the bowels. One is to allow a drastic purgative which exacts a painful, and, frequently, a permanent, the other is to take Pitcher's Castoria, the effect of which is not to cut, but to gently soothe, and which does not grip the bowels. If the first is selected, the person complaining of indigestion, of the bowels, and he cannot hope to escape the debilitating reaction which leaves the organs as bad or worse than before. If, on the other hand, he resorts to the Bitters, he can rely upon the restoration of a regular habit of body, consequent upon a renewal of the healthy tone in the intestinal canal. Besides healthfully relaxing the bowels, the Bitters arouses a dormant liver, imparts a beneficial impetus to the action of the kidneys, and counteracts the early twinges of rheumatism, a tendency to gout, and malady in all its forms.

The ball game which was to have been played between the Massillon city nine and the Canton Y. M. C. A. nine on Friday, has been postponed until the middle of next week.

Another splendid coal find has just been discovered a few miles southwest of the city, on land leased by Sonnenhalter, Kurtz & Levers. The vein is four feet and ten inches thick, and the quality is like all Massillon coal—the best.

The fact that some parties who control the Wheeling & Lake Erie railway, are gaining an ascendancy in the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Company is deemed sufficient cause for speculative gossip.—Norwalk Reflector.

The Ohio State board of health reports diphtheria from Xenia, Elmore, Cleveland, Norwalk, New Straitsville, Columbus, Louisville, Lebanon and Rushing. Typhoid fever reported from New Washington, Carrollton, Maineville and Minster; old cases from Botkins and East Liverpool. Scarlet fever reported from Sandusky, Elmore, Toledo, Cleveland and Columbus; old cases from Anna and Shreve. Measles reported from nine places, whooping cough from nine places.

The Canton Gun Club is in the city to-day in the person of L. A. Croy. Mr. Croy, it should also be stated, once lived in Massillon, so after all it was the Massillonians who won the recent tri-city shoots.

Tun Kee, a Tremont street washee mao, is ill. Tun Kee thinks that his heart is out of order, and has been dosing himself with vile Chinese compounds. This morning he sent for a regular physician, and will doubtless soon regain his former condition.

The board of education met Tuesday night, paid bills, discussed the new building and adjourned. There are a number of applicants for the position of high school principal, but notwithstanding that the vacation is half over, none has been elected.

A Canton exchange says, "The commissioners are considering the advisability of holding back the projected scheme of erecting a drill hall at Massillon for the Eighth regiment. They are at present paying two hundred and thirty-eight dollars a year for the rent of a building." The building now rented, in its present condition, is not at all satisfactory.

The different bodies occupying the Masonic Temple have moved out temporarily, and the Bryant Brothers have taken possession, with their scaffolds and painters, and will decorate the asylum, banquet hall and ante rooms. This will be one of the most perfectly finished halls in northern Ohio, when all the plans are carried out.

It is very difficult to secure enough stone flagging for the pavement contracts now let in this city, and much projected work has therefore been delayed. As an instance of the way in which sidewalk paving is being laid, Harmon Shriver, alone, has ordered five thousand feet of flagging to go in front of his Erie street property.

The Cleveland Leader "corridor man" corralled Thomas Smart, of Middletown, N. Y., while the latter was on his way home from the glass workers' convention. Mr. Smart was loud in his praise of the hospitality extended to the delegates by the Massillon people, and spoke in the highest terms of what he had seen of Cleveland during an extended carriage ride.

The Navarre Independent is of the opinion that in asking the C. L. & W. railroad company to change the name of the station designated as Navarre, but which in reality is two miles from Navarre, it is breaking a record. For very few towns care to be taken from the list of railroad points. Scarcely a week passes but that some business men have their goods shipped to Navarre station, by mistake, and are put to extra expense and delay in the delivery of the same.

Much of this annoyance could be saved by changing the name to Camp Creek or anything else.

Cuyahoga county sportsmen will doubtless accommodate the Canton and Massillon shots with a match. The Stark county marksmen prefer a team of twenty men, and the Cuyahoga county shots agree, the majority preferring three matches—one in Cleveland, one in Massillon and one in Canton. The Cuyahoga county men will send the Stark county shots a challenge, though the latter first proposed the match. The three older Cleveland clubs contain some excellent shots, and the opportunity to get a match ought not to be neglected.—Cleveland Leader.

Excitement in our local option election is not likely to strike fever heat, as we are informed the "wets" will make no effort in their own behalf. In fact the "milk shake" on the Hill has decided to surrender their charter at the expiration of their six months' probation, whether local option carries in this township or not, and then take the room now occupied as a saloon and commence a drug store business with a "milk shake" attachment. We merely mention this in order to relieve our Tuscarawas township friends from any extra trouble they might be put in order to exterminate the "milk shake" on the Hill.

Bulletin No. 1 of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station discusses some elaborate experiments in preventing curculio injury to cherries, and treats in a practical way the best mid-summer remedies for the chinch bug, which has lately appeared in destructive numbers in Ohio. In the cherry experiment, which was conducted by the station entomologist, Clarence M. Weed, twenty-two thousand and five hundred cherries were individually cut open and examined, and the conclusion reached that thirty-fourths of the cherries liable to injury by the curculio can be saved without danger to the user, by the spraying of London purple soon after the blossoms fall. This bulletin will be sent free to any Ohio farmer who will address the station at Columbus.

James McVeigh, a good-for-nothing who should be in an asylum, was arrested last night for exposing his person.

At the Hollow Glass Works.

They are very busy down at Reed & Company's two glass factories, trying to get the improvements and repairs done by September 1. The works will start up at that date, upon which the vacation terminates, and as the firm already has heavy orders, and heavier prospects, there is no doubt but that the approaching season will be fully as successful and more so than any past.

Was it Wine or Vinegar?

Twelve distinguished jurymen, including the Hon. John McBride, are sitting in Justice Rogers' office, trying to decide whether or not Wilhelm & Grass ought to pay a bill amounting to $122.50 presented by Joseph Young. Wilhelm & Grass allege that the California wines they purchased were not up to the samples, and without casting any reflections it is quite certain that the jury is fully capable of deciding the momentous question.

THE GLASS WORKERS

At the meeting Saturday morning, a resolution was passed, thanking T. V. Powderly, for the assistance he has rendered to the glass workers of the United States.

Bridge and dimension stone is being gotten out, the present shipments averaging four car loads a day.

Suit was brought Wednesday against Fred Fetzer, a saloon keeper doing business at the corner of Erie and Tremont streets, by Mrs. Emma Croninger, of Muskingum street, through her attorney, R. W. McCaughy, for selling liquor on Sunday. The affidavit alleges that the defendant transacted business on Sunday, July 15. The trial is set for hearing on Monday next, before Justice Rogers.

A VALUABLE PATENT

Granted to Carnes & Keller Upon An Electric Motor.

After unjustly withholding it for four years, the patent office authorities have at last granted to Messrs. James Carnes and Fred Keller a patent upon an electric motor, embracing many new principles, for which seven claims were made. Of the seven, six have been allowed by the department, and the owners of the patent have therefore every reason to believe that their device is an extremely valuable one. The first great advantage of the motor over all others is that it has no dead center, and the second is its marvellous simplicity. It can be manufactured very cheaply, and it has no limit of power. Just what disposition Carnes & Keller will make of their property cannot be stated. They have already received very good offers, and it is not improbable that a local stock company may be formed to manufacture it in Massillon. That this is to be an age of electricity is conceded, and the electrical works springing up here and there all grow and prosper. The inventors of this motor applied for their patent years ago, before any of the present imperfect appliances had been introduced. Through the circumlocution of the office they have been discouraged and kept out of their rights until now, much to their disadvantage. They had almost given up hope of securing government protection, and since they have it propose to develop it.

THEY SHATTERED A STREET CROSSING.

Disfigured Trees, and Made Themselves Obnoxious.

[From Wednesday's Daily.]

The Taylor Bros., of Alliance, have the contract to move the house on the East street school property, purchased by C. W. Kline. The Taylor Bros. have learned how to move houses, but their education in the rules of courtesy has been neglected. The house is of pretty fair size, and these individuals had a free and easy way of flopping off the limbs of trees that stood in their way, without so much as by your leave, that was exasperating to the East street residents. Remonstrances were met with retorts neither witty nor polite. They decided however to be a little more circumspect.

Their next offense was to roll the building over the stone street crossing at South street, without timbering it, or taking any precautions whatever for its protection. The result was that five stones were badly shattered, and will have to be replaced. Solicitor Young, acting upon advice from the committee on streets and alleys, notified the firm Tuesday night that unless the damage was repaired, suit would immediately be brought. Notice was served upon the firm to-day, to appear before the Mayor on July 21, and answer to the charge of damaging city property, to the value of $40.

Your House on Fire.

Not the house of wood, or brick, or stone, in which you live, but your bodily temperament may be in terrible danger from smouldering fire which you make no effort to quench. The great danger from impure blood is that it debilitates the system, and the digestive organs grow weak and inactive. Hood's Sarsaparilla combines the best liver and kidney purgatives, with the best alteratives and tonics, all from the vegetable kingdom, carefully and understandingly prepared in a concentrated form. It purifies, vitalizes, and enriches the blood, and tones up the system, giving the whole body vitality, and effectually guarding it against the attacks of disease.

The Great—M. P.

By M. P. is meant Miles' Nerve and L. Pills which regulates the liver, stomach, bowels, etc., through their nerves. Small, neat and mildest. A new principle! A revolutionizer. Samples free at Z. T. Baltz's.

Gross Cruelty.

Parents too frequently permit their children to suffer from headache, fits, St. Vitus Dance, nervousness, etc., when they can be cured. Mrs. P. was cured of sick headache, dizziness, dyspepsia, nervous prostration of eighteen years standing, after failure of sixteen physicians; Mrs. K., of sick headache for thirty-five years; Mrs. P. of twenty to fifty fits a night; others from this vicinity could be mentioned who have been cured by that wonderful nerve food and medicine—Dr. Miles' Nerve, which contains no morphia, opium, or dangerous drugs. Free sample bottles may be had at Z. T. Baltz's drug store.

NEW YORK FASHIONS.

MAGNIFICENT COLORS WILL BE SEEN THIS FALL.

How the Ladies of the Metropolis Will Rival the Colors of the Autumnal Forest—Styles for the Children and for Grandmas.

[Special Correspondence.]

NEW YORK, July 12.—Tennyson writes about the crimson that gleams upon the burnished dome, but that is nothing compared to the magnificence of the colors that will be seen this fall in the new dress materials; for all the colors of the rainbow and several others not written down, besides all the metallic lusters in the world, will be blended in chameleon changeableness. I saw yesterday a box of samples which had just been received by the largest importing house in New York, and everything, from velvet down to poplin, has a changeable effect. Velvets have the pile rather thin and a warp of another color shows beneath it. Gold and purple, gold and blue, gold and red, silver and pink, silver and green, bronze and gray, and in short every conceivable shade and color are combined so as to form an artistic harmony in the blending of two diametrically opposite colors. One beautiful piece was of twisted silk in two shades of blue and cream, mingled with silvery white. In folds this was exquisite, and just such a dress my grandmother was married in. All these "shot silks" are like the old style, and such young ladies as have any of their grandmothers' dresses, let them bring them out and they will be just in fashion.

But if the dress materials are lovely what shall I say of the new hats? They are the oddest and queerest looking things I ever saw or expect to see, though much is to be expected of a milliner at all times. One of them was a small close bonnet, shaped like a half baked pancake which is rather larger than the rest of the pile, and which therefore droops over the edges in irregular folds. On this, which was of drab felt, reposes a bunch of vegetation which resembles curled lettuce, only it is of velvet, and among this is a bunch of brownish velvet flowers which make you think irresistibly of "half a dozen fried in cracker crumbs." Indeed the edible qualities of that hat far overshadow its beauty. It makes you feel hungry for the oysters and salad. This was a pattern bonnet and will doubtless be copied in hundreds of others. If that sort of thing keeps up we may see lobsters in a dish on a bonnet, or a couple of nice mutton chops or pig's feet. Indeed there is no limit to possibilities.

AMERICAN STYLES.

We have had flowers, feathers, birds, fruit, cats, frogs, dogs' heads and bugs and butterflies on our bonnets until there is really nothing left but oysters and meat. The vagaries of fashion are wonderful. One year dresses will be long and so tight to the figure that no woman can step over six inches to save her life, and the next season dresses will be six inches from the ground and a bustle as big as a hay stack will tilt it up still further in the back. "I were not a woman I believe I would not to be a man, so as not to have to keep thinking whether or no I like a new fashion well enough to wear it."

I did begin this letter with the intention of saying something about little girls' newest fashions, but wandered off as a vision of the chameleon colors flashed their iridescent shimmer before my eyes, but I will be adamant and attend to my business.

Little girls, to be sweet and lovable as the Great Master certainly designed they should be, ought to be dressed simply, and let their bright faces and innocent beauty show, and no fancy nonsense in dress ought to be permitted to detract from it. American women, as a gen-central, have solved this problem and there are no prettier nor more suitably dressed children in the world than theirs. But fashion sets its wand over all parts of busy as much of place on an old woman, and only a few of our mothers have the good sense to keep them in the dressing of their little girls. It is a pity, but it is unfortunately true, that little girls who are reared out in this style are usually vain, pert, unhealthily and unhappy. They can't run and play freely, for fear of soiling their Paris dresses, and they suffer in consequence.

The boys have rather a better time of it. Mark the contrast between them and the American style of little girl. The one is all vanity, pride of dress and hateful-ness and precocity. The other is just a healthy, bright, innocent girl, full of life and fun, but without any of the objection-able qualities just named; the girl to love and feel sure of, and the girl who puts up with her brother's many freaks in the same jolly, hearty spirit. The one is Nature's child, the others are what Paris fashionables make them.

If there is one creature on earth more dear than another to a woman's heart it is what the little girls call a "long baby," or one who wears long dresses. Poor little wrinkled men and women, battling with tiny pink fists against the unknown evils of the world before them, their very helplessness makes them dear and precious. To watch the little faces transform from utter blankness to the brightness of intelligence, to assist the development of that little creature's dormant intellect and to watch the queer pink little mass of flesh take firmness and form and grow instinct with voluntary action, and to gather those first blundering baby kisses is to achieve the highest and truest happiness this world affords, and what wonder that women look with tender smiles and dewy eyes on each tiny mass of humanity in its long robes of lace and flannel? Two pretty baby's robes are here shown. They need not have a coronet embroidered on the waist to endow the baby with beauty or goodness, or the mother with the fullness of her joy. They can have an initial or a bit of a bow or ribbon or a flower in the place. They are lovely in themselves.

The newest style in infants' robes is to use Valenciennes lace instead of em-broideries, as they are finer and more delicate. Blue satin ribbons are for boys, pink for girls. The pretty little coral armlets are worn now to loop up short sleeves, though few mothers make their babies' sleeves short now.

GRANDMA.

After the baby, in the natural course of human events, comes the grandma, in her pretty black lace cap with its purple ribbons, her soft, white curls and her warm, knit cape. Styles for old ladies are dark wooden or silk dresses, plainly made, with black satin, silk or velvet for "best." Bonnets for them are a sort of modified poke, trimmed with ostrich tips and beaded trimmings. For them also are made shoes, soft on the tops and with broad soles. Their caps are coronet shaped in front and pointed, handkerchief fashion, in the back.

High Art in Advertisements.

The very high class of art work noticeable in advertising matter calls attention to the fact that almost the very best artists are now employed by advertisers (at the highest prices they command for any work) to draw pictures for circulars, pamphlets, guide books, the advertising pages of the magazines, and for the public columns of the newspapers. The artists have taken warning from the fate of a bright young fellow who allowed his signature to appear too often in pictures in railway advertising books, and all these fine pieces of work they now turn out are copied without their signatures, indeed, they contract that their names shall neither appear nor be mentioned in connection with their work. Not long ago a large firm of manufacturers was pleased with the pictures a very famous artist drew for one of the pamphlets that they scattered broadcast the statement that the head of the house offered to pay the artist his original price over again if he would sign the picture he had made. In order that they may hang in the manufacturer's parlor. The artist said he could not do so for any price within the means of the rich man.

The same companies that make use of these high grade pictures also employ excellent talent for the writing of the reading matter that accompanies the pictures, and great advertisers now have private arrangements with literary or at least semi-literary men, whose work in the back columns of the papers attracts almost as much attention as the news itself. Here, again, the high prices are paid and secrecy is maintained. One natural effect of this is that which led an enterprising member of a small firm to complain to the writer the other day that it was no longer possible for him to advertise in such a way as to make his calls upon the public attractive to the general eye. He said that small business firms in all the cities are now at their wits' end because they have not got the money to pay for ingenious writing or for displaying it at the proper length in the papers. —New York Sun.

Photographing a Pork Packer.

When this distinguished gentleman came to have his picture taken he didn't know exactly what he wanted, he said that he thought he preferred something that would set off his good points to the best advantage; he had not had a picture made since the days of ambrotypes, and he was determined now to get the best, no matter how much it cost. I asked him how he'd like to try a dozen of "inspiration," and he said: "Let 'er go, Gallagher." So I set him down at the little table and made him rest his right elbow on a copy of Shakespeare's plays, with his left hand gracefully supporting his head. In his lap I placed another book, upon which I rested his left hand carelessly. "Now, I looked up toward the ceiling," said I, "and try to look expectant." "What's that?" he asked. "As if you were looking for a corner in land," says I. "Oh, I see," says he, and he rolled up his eyes beautifully. "Don't miss the diamond," says he, "I paid a heap for it and wouldn't swap it for the best lot in Texas."

"Now the result," continued the professional, "was that first a splendid negative. The pork packer's daughter was delighted. 'Oh, papa, how perfectly lovely!' she said. 'I have never seen you look half so sweet before.' Of course not. If I'd wanted to get a character picture of this man I'd have to set him in a chair and let him sit there for an hour, and stuff his face into his trousers pockets, and put a chew of tobacco into his mouth. That would have been nature. But photography is art, and the truly artistic photographer is he who tries to make a unique every time."

THE PAINS OF FEAR.

THE EXQUISITE TORTURE ENDURED BY THE TIMID WOMAN.

The Night Has Its Terrors and the Day Its Dangers—Mothers Who Make Their Motherhood a Long Drawn Agony. Peril Everywhere.

Think what that poor, dear, timid woman undergoes who nightly looks under her bed for the burglar she believes to be secreted there who goes round the house after the servants are asleep to see that all is safe and that no ticket of leave man is profiting by his liberty to do her harm. With what a sense of dread she looks the doors of those dark underground places into which she dares not peer. Throats and robbers she turns the key on both with a quick throb and trembling hand, then beats a retreat with ever the same feeling of nameless terror, the same sensation of being followed by some vague horror which she has not the courage to turn round and confront. Night after night this torment is renewed as unbendingly as that which the old hag inflicted on the merchant Abundiah.

If the night has its terrors so has the day its dangers. Such a person as this in the country dies a thousand deaths in quick succession, and the one is as unnecessary as the other. A tramp loitering on the highway means robbery first and assassination after. A few harmless cows going home to be milked and driven by a child are as dangerous as a stampede of buffaloes, heads down and tails aloft. Cat-tie in a house however well worn the public way across make that field taboo, for is not each dull slow grazing ox, each mild eyed milky mother of the herd, each languid poled yearling calf, as dangerous as a wild bull? man mad, and to be approached only with caution and in force? That distant barking collie, that restless neighing horse prancing up to the gap in the hedge through which he thrusts his sociably inquisitive nose, that wayward encumbrance of traveling gypsies—all the circumstances of the country are so many causes of fear to the timid pedestrian, beating along the public road for a constitutional and taking no pleas-ure in what she sees.

In a carriage she fares no better. Up hill she is sure the horses will jib, down hill they will slip and fall, or the pole will break, and then heaven have mercy on her soul! On the plain road, put to a sharp trot they will run away. Indeed, they are running away. If they whisk their tails they are about to kick. If they cock their ears they are sure to shy. She screams at the smallest difference between them and their driver, and when they have to meet another carriage, or pass a lumbering cart, she pinches her companion black and blue in the spasm of her fear.

The torment of fear is hard to bear when it is centered on one's self. What is it when it spreads itself abroad and in-circles others—the beloved—in its meshes? For the beloved, indeed, is no security. Every railway journey includes a smash, every sea voyage is a foregone shipwreck; if an epidemic touches the outside fringes of the district, it is sure to make a leap into the home where the dear ones live. The smallest cold is bronchitis, and when the little people cough they have whoop-ing cough no less.

Some mothers make their motherhood a long drawn agony by the fears with which they encompass their young. Is the nurse a quarter of an hour beyond her usual time? Straightway the grave is opened and the cherished and adored lie therein stark and cold. Wild wanderings to and fro, wild surmises as to what can have happened, angry rejection of any common place explanation as to a longer walk than usual, a longer session under the trees than was calculated on, passionate outbursts of frantic despair, passionate outbursts of as frantic wrath, when lo! the nurse comes quietly up to the house door with her charge as fresh as a flower and as gay as a lark, and that voluntary descent into Hades proves itself as futile as it was un-necessary.

These fears accompany a mother of this uneasy kind all through life. When her boys go to school she is sure they will be mauled by the bigger ruffians of their class, maimed for life in the playground, overworked, underfed, put into damp sheets and morally corrupted. She suffers more than they from the dire necessities of learning and wishes that there was a royal road to knowledge where her ings could bowl along at railroad speed, with never a hill to climb nor a valley wherein to descend. She thinks the mas-ters cruel and the curriculum inhuman, and wonders how so much can be ex-pected from such young brains and grow-ing bodies.

All through life it is the same cry of evil. The fortunes of war take her sons here and there, and the mother frets over the possibilities of disaster, as if that pos-sible event were proven fact and chance had no side alley for escape. And when it comes to matrimony the whole thing is renewed under another name: for surely was there never the girl born who was a fit wife for the son of such a mother, while the finest man extant makes but a poor kind of a care taker for her daugh-ter! So she perverts the great gift of love and the divine glory of maternity into a scourge, and not a blessing, and weeps behind her mantle of self-made mourning because she has not the courage to believe nor the common sense to hope.—The For-um.

Headaddresses of the Sioux.

The Sioux display remarkable fertility in the arrangement of their decorations, and some of their headaddresses are very grotesque indeed. There is one fellow who has killed an owl, from which he has carefully removed the skin and plumage entire which fashioned into a sort of cap surmounts his cranium. The wings droop down over his ears and the tail and legs dangle from behind, while the head in front, with its yellow, cat like eyes, give it a ludicrous life like appearance. An other wears a fox skin, which is formed in a turban shape around his head with the pointed nose and erect ears in front and the tail falling jauntily down the side and over his shoulder.

Again you will behold a mother with a large cap made of that portion of a buf-falo robe which contains the heaviest growth of hair. In the front part of this robe has ingeniously fastened a pair of iron horns, which give him a very bad head aspect. Besides the cap, he wears a long, narrow, pointed piece of skin, which is probably made of a muskrat, and which he wears as a turban. You will also behold a mother with a cap made of a piece of skin which she envelops round her head and face so as to leave the upper portion of the face disclosed. It is this, by the way, that she wears to her native costume, and never utters any of the annuity claims issued every fall.—Leit Free Press.
